

Weekend Family Man

Words & Music by Tom Simpson (Elwood T. Simpson Jr.) & Steve Smith (Kermit Stephen Smith)

Well, I pull my robe around me
As I slowly walk the floor
And, I sigh a little louder
Than I did the night before
The kids are all in bed
And, I'm all alone again
Cause he's late again from somewhere
And, I just don't understand

(Why I)

Fell in love with a weekend family man
Fell in love with a weekend family man
But I know when he's home, he can give me
A lot more love than I've ever known
A lot more love than I've ever been shown
Still, it's hard to fight this feeling that's growing
When I'm sitting home all alone

And I wonder as I'm waiting
If he's coming home at all
As the tears that I've been holding
Blur his portrait on the wall
Lord knows I've tried so hard
But I'll never understand
Yet, I know I'll keep on waiting
Cause he'll always be my man

(Yes I)

Fell in love with a weekend family man
Fell in love with a weekend family man
But I know when he's home, he can give me
A lot more love than I've ever known
A lot more love than I've ever been shown
Still, it's hard to fight this feeling that's growing
When I'm sitting home all alone

© 1972 Kermit Stephen Smith & Elwood T. Simpson Jr.